

SHOT FOR A QUARTER. A DRUMMER SHOT BY A STATION AGENT.

A Suspicious Death in Homerville—Saps Hunting in Sumter—The Bank of Rome Cases—A Family Row in Elberton—The Fry Incident—Lew—State News Generally.

BALTIMORE, April 3.—[Special.]—James G. Ketteler was shot here this evening by James Landsberg, of Savannah, Georgia. The shooting was done with a pistol, the ball passing through the right thigh. Mr. Ketteler has been freight agent and telegraph operator for the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad at this place for a number of years. Landsberg is a drummer, representing the firm of Kinsteins Sons, of Savannah. The latter had some barges shipped to this point to day, on which was due the amount of twenty-five cents freight, while he seemed to think amount. Ketteler demanded the freight, and Landsberg refused, whereupon a scuffle ensued, which ended as above stated. The shooting was done without malice or excuse. Ketteler being unarmed at the time. Landsberg waived preliminary trial, and gave bond to appear at the May term of Appling superior court, for the offense of assault with intent to murder.

A Suspicious Death.

HOMERVILLE, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Jacob S. Lightsey, whose untimely death occurred in Waycross this week, was reared in this country, being the son of Judge Jacob Lightsey, one of our best old citizens. He followed the mercantile life, amassing quite a handsome property. Mr. Lightsey had lived a bachelor up to about a year ago, when he married a Miss Nugent of Savannah. The marriage proved to be a very unhappy one, and Mr. Lightsey took to drinking. He and his wife never lived together, only visiting each other occasionally. She remained in the house until a few months ago, when she left her mother's family home. Recently Mr. Lightsey sold out his business interests in this county, and it was understood he proposed engaging in the mercantile business at Waycross. He was at Mrs. Nugent's when found, had a pistol in his hand, a wound or his head from which he soon died. His remains were laid to rest at the old family burial ground in this county. It was supposed he committed suicide, but his relatives have ascertained as to whether his death was the result of suicide or foul play, and hope to ascertain the truth.

A Family Row.

ELBERTON, April 3.—[Special.]—J. E. Snellings was arrested on a warrant, sent out by his brother-in-law, Thomas Bell, charging the offense of assault with intent to murder, and brought before H. F. Chandler, notary public, to day. Snellings was committed for trial. Snellings had also brought a warrant for Mr. Bell and John Bell, charging the same offense. They were both discharged. Mrs. Snellings, a sister of the Bell's, had a peace warrant issued for them, which the court dismissed.

Lodged in Jail.

MARIETTA, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—A man named Gentry from Gilmer county, was tried yesterday in the United States court for illicit distilling. He pled guilty and was sentenced to 55 days' imprisonment. Yesterday afternoon he was brought to Marietta by Marshal Campbell and lodged in jail, where he will remain until his time expires.

Ms. Year Freddie.

ELBERTON, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Andrew Arnold, colored, was arraigned before Mayor Moon Tuesday last and found guilty of using profane language on the streets, also for resisting the man shall. Fined $10 and cost.

Between Two Fathers.

LEXINGTON, April 3.—[Special.]—W. A. Elberhart was tried here before Judge Gilham last Thursday. His mind for some time has not been sound, and relatives wished a guardian appointed, but owing to a disagreement between his father and the father of his wife, a selection could not be made. They left for their home in the lower part of the county without coming to a settlement.

Sent to the Lunatic Asylum.

MONROE, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Two young men have been committed to the lunatic asylum in this county this week—S. C. Burson, Jr., and Willie Carlton. Their friends are in great distress over their afflictions.

Saps Hunting in Sumter.

AMERICUS, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—A number of one young man carried a "greaser" out saps hunting one night this week. He proved to be not so green. As soon as he was stationed with the bag and the light put out, he began to follow the retreating party, shooting as he went. There was a perfect stampede. It is funny to them now, since they all got away, but then they sought refuge behind trees and fence to shield them from random bullets. They say it will not be "long" when they start upon another saps venture.

The Marietta Library.

MARIETTA, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The Marietta library association held its quarterly meeting last night, which was largely attended. A new committee was appointed to have a collection of books for the library, and the following officers were elected: President, W. E. Graves; Secretary, W. L. Sessions; Treasurer, S. R. Hitch; Financial Secretary, J. R. Greer; Librarian, Dr. B. E. Strong; Directors, Mrs. W. A. McCrea, Miss Annie Strong, Dr. P. R. Cartlyle, Dr. B. R. Strong and Dr. B. B. Legg. Reports of the various officers were read, all showing the library to be in a very prosperous condition.

The Gwinnett Courthouse.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Mr. Spence, chairman of the board of commissioners, was to-day presented with a portrait of the new courthouse when fully completed. It was drawn by J. N. Hutchins, nephew of Judge Hutchins, who is now with Mr. Lind, the architect, of Atlanta. Nat, we know him, is quite young, but he has developed a wonderful faculty for sketching.

The Prohibition Issue.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The proper authorities should investigate the telegraphic facilities between Atlanta and this place. It is simply outrageous. One can go from here to Atlanta through the country before a dispatch can get there, if the rapidity with which it travels has not recently accelerated. I don't know where the negligence lies.

Will Take the Road.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Mr. Herlin, of the late firm of Herlin & Turner, will take the road next week to represent a large Philadelphia house. His territory embraces five southern states. His family will remove temporarily to Atlanta.

Mr. Turner has gone to work in Atlanta and remains at his post with his characteristic tenacity.

The Trade in Eggs.

DALLAS, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Mr. Calvin Powers, a law student, who has been reading in the law office of the Hon. J. Monroe Spinks, of Dallas, has built up quite a trade in eggs. Within the last two days they have shipped thirty thousand and sixty dozen. They have had great trouble and loss from breakage in transportation.

He Disownances Laia.

AMERICUS, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Leake & McCrea, of this place, have built up quite a trade in eggs. Within the last two days they have shipped thirty thousand and sixty dozen. They have had great trouble and loss from breakage in transportation.

A Gioomby View.

DALTON, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The pupils of Professor Quillian's school enjoyed their annual April picnic Wednesday. The pupils of the South Georgia college have their picnic to-morrow, and a pleasant time is anticipated.

GEORGIA GLIMPSES.

CAUGHT THROUGH THE MEDIUMS OF THE MAILS AND PRESS.

ITEMS OF ALL KINDS GATHERED FROM OUR STATE CONTEMPORARIES—THE FIELD AND THE FARM—INTERESTING INCIDENTS FROM ALL PARTS OF GEORGIA—FACTS AND COMMENTS, ETC., ETC.

The Griffin News of yesterday says that the dwelling of L. H. Reeve, on South Hill street, was discovered in flames, having caught it is supposed, from a fire, in spite of all efforts, soon burnt to the ground. Most of the furniture and household goods were saved. The house belonged to Mr. Sparks, and her loss was about five hundred dollars; no insurance. A terrible accident happened in sounding the alarm, but fortunately without serious results to life. Will Dismane and Charlie McDonald were up in the belfry of the Baptist church, ringing the bell, when the bell fell down through the bason. Both McDonald escaped with a few bruises, but Dismane suffered some quite severe cuts from the falling timber.

The Good Crop Year.

COLUMBUS, April 3.—[Special.]—A prominent warehouseman said to day that the prospects for a good crop year were never better. "The farmers," he said, "are rather cheerful over the crop. Supplies have not been so cheap since the war, and labor is plentiful. The only bad sign this year was the early date at which farmers began to seek advances, but the warehousemen were careful not to let them have too much. On the whole the outlook is encouraging."

FUNERAL OF F. C. Johnson.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The remains of Mr. F. C. Johnson, who died a few miles north of here yesterday, were interred in the city cemetery to day. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Carter and were largely attended.

The Green not to be Graded.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The commissioners of commons held a meeting this afternoon and decided that they had no authority to grade the green crop year. Recently Mr. Lightsey sold his business interests in this county, and it was understood he proposed engaging in the mercantile business at Waycross. He was at Mrs. Nugent's when found, had a pistol in his hand, a wound or his head from which he soon died. His remains were laid to rest at the old family burial ground in this county. Georgia Bonds.

FIVE PER CENT—THIRTY YEARS.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Atlanta, Ga.

March 10, 1885.]

UNDER AUTHORITY OF AN ACT APPROVED December 23, 1884, authorizing the Governor to issue bonds for payment of principal of bonds matured on January 1, 1885, and interest thereon to be received at the office of the Treasurer of Georgia unto TWELVE O'CLOCK M. ON APRIL 15, 1885, or earlier if so directed, for the sum of one thousand and one hundred ($1,100) five per cent (per year) thirty year coupon bonds, as heretofore set forth, bearing date January 1, 1885, from the fiscal agency of Georgia; and at the office of the Treasurer of Georgia in the city of Atlanta, interest payable annually on January 1 and January 1 respectively.

Bonds will be received for two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) each to be delivered July 1, 1885, and for two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars ($225,000) to be delivered January 1, 1886, or earlier if so directed, for the remainder of the amount of three million four hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars ($3,455,000), (one thousand four hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars,) as heretofore set forth, bearing date January 1, 1886, the accrued interest withheld as aforesaid. As to last delivery, however, success will be had in getting the state to accept the bonds maturing as aforesaid, at their par value in payment thereof, for thirty days after July 1, 1885, and receiving Bids next specified amount of bonds desired in multiples of one thousand dollars ($1,000), accompanied by certified check or bank draft of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for five per cent (5 per cent) of the amount of such bid, payable to the order of the Treasurer of Georgia, or by a deposit officer of the State of Georgia.

Bids will be opened and declared by the Governor and Treasurer, the state reserving the right to reject any one or all of the bids.

The state registered bonds in lieu of any of the above named five per cent bonds as provided in said act at any time on demand for one copy of the Constitution, the state's history and information touching the proposed issue of bonds will be furnished on application to the Treasurer. By the Governor.

ATLANTA, APRIL 4, 1885.

INDICATIONS FOR THE SOUTH Atlantic states, taken at 1 a. m.: Fair weather preceded in northeast portion by local rains; winds shifting to northerly; colder; higher barometer.

On Wednesday night a disastrous cyclone passed through Missouri. Yesterday the north and Canada had a severe snow storm, and during the night the chilly blasts extended down through the south.

The power of the president to remove and appoint officers, is now a matter of lively discussion. The republican senators are anxious to hatch up some plan by which the will of the people may be thwarted.

PATRIOTISM is not at a very high ebb in Tennessee and substitutes for military service may be had cheap if taken in bunches. Anxious parents, it is said, who wished to keep their sons from service in Manitoba, paid as high as fifteen and twenty dollars a head for substitutes.

The activity of Secretary Whitney in organizing the marines to Aspinwall will have the effect of wakening the South Americans up to the fact that there has been a change of administration in the great republic. That the rights of American citizens must be respected, is a lesson which needs to be ascertained.

THE PETTIFOGGING SENATE.

The growing uneasiness and restlessness of the machine republicans at the appointment of representative democrats to the various offices within the gift of the administration, has at last culminated in the exhibition of pettiness sectional spite by the republican majority in the senate. When President Cleveland went into office the republicans of the senate held a caucus and decided to throw no obstacle in the way of his appointments, provided there was nothing personally objectionable in the appointees themselves.

But they have found themselves unable to live up to the terms of this resolution. They have acted as though they supposed that the democratic president did not propose to take advantage of the privileges of his office to make his administration of our public affairs both at home and abroad thoroughly democratic. They have apparently been impressed with the idea that real civil service reform means the retention of republicans in office, and accordingly they have begun to resent the efforts of the president to place honest men in office, and thus give the country the benefit of a change.

Consequently the poor old pettifogging republicans who compose a majority of the senate were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to make technical opposition to the confirmation of General A. R. Lawton as minister to Russia. It is true that the object of the republicans is pitifully apparent, and it is also true that this display of pettiness is not calculated to advance the interests of the republican party, but it shows how seriously the democratic president may be hampered in his efforts to reform the civil service by the prejudice that survives only in the minds of the poor old republican grannies who sit grinning and drooling in the United States senate.

Under these circumstances, the control of the senate becomes very important to the democrats. We have a democratic administration, but there can be no genuine democratic legislation while the republicans retain control of the senate. Indeed, there can be no aggressive reform of the civil service. The hope is that President Cleveland will be able to give such satisfaction to the country, even within the limits imposed on him by the pettifogging senate, as will aid the democrats in putting aside the present republican majority in that body.

With unity and harmony among the democrats of the country, such a result is by no means beyond reasonable expectation. Indeed, if the democratic party will work to end there is no reason why it may not secure control of the senate and thus assure to the country that real civil service reform which President Cleveland has kept steadily in view in all his appointments and in all his acts since he has occupied the executive chair.

If we count Riddleberger and Mahone, the republicans have six majority in the senate. If republican senators are elected in Illinois and Oregon, a result that is by no means assured, that party would have a majority of eight, and a change of four votes would be in the senate. This year and next there will be elections in New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Connecticut, Ohio, Virginia, and California. A successor to Miller is to be chosen in New York; to Sewell in New Jersey; to Harrison in Indiana; to Hawley in Connecticut; to Sherman in Ohio; to Mahone in Virginia, and to Miller in California.

We are confident that if the democratic party in these states is alive to the importance of breaking down the republican majority in the senate that at least five democratic senators can be chosen. This will give the democrats a majority of one, and place the whole machinery of the government where it ought to be, in the hands of the democratic party. The result in Oregon and Illinois depends on contingencies, but democrats should be elected in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Indiana and Virginia, and nothing will stand in the way of such a consummation if only the democrats are united and harmonious, and we cannot conceive of a contingency likely to disturb existing harmony.

WHAT WE NEED.

Writing of the recent immigration convention held in New Orleans, the Philadelphia Times, puts together this little chunk of thoughtfulness:

"Again, if the south brings in foreign skilled mechanics and laborers to do her work, she leaves her poor white and colored population in the lurch, a heavy, useless burden. The small planter in Georgia and Mississippi grows (not without cause): 'If we could rid ourselves of the negro and bring in industrial white labor, one man would do the work of ten.' But when there would become of the ten? The south cannot rid herself of the negro; nor is it just that she should do it. She has to choose whether he shall become an efficient member of the body politic or a dead weight. Besides, there is much room to doubt whether the German, the Irishman, and, least of all, the Scandinavian immigrant would, in the long run, prove as useful a laborer on the sugar, cotton or rice field, or even in the mills of the south, as the colored man."

This is suggestive. We have lost opportunity lately to insist in these columns that the south needs the immigration of capital, and not the immigration of labor. We have much labor as there is any need for, and though there are sometimes complaints in regard to its reliability, it is not to be denied that it is better than any labor that could be imported and put in its place. It is crude, certainly, but its crudeness is the result of circumstances that have disappeared, or are very rapidly disappearing. And, after all, is it as crude as we have been disposed to assert?

If the negro, who has been raised on the farm, is not an expert in planting, hoeing and picking cotton, where will you find experts to take his place? If the white man, who works in the field, is not an expert in his line, where will you find one?

The immigration of the South Atlantic in in itself a good thing in the April Century in the story of fiction, perhaps the best is the story contributed by Colonel Richard Malcolm Johnston, entitled "The Meditations of Mr. Kittrill." Within its limits it is the completest picture of rural life in Georgia before the war that has ever been presented. It is thoroughly enjoyable from beginning to end.

The spring riots have opened up in Kentucky. They were started by the esteemed sheriff of one of the glorious old counties.

The Mexican Financier is whooping up the population of the Salvador country. It urges them to buy Barrios, and "make their victory complete by hanging him in his own capital." This would suit Mexico much better than to take an active hand in the business here. So far as the fighting is concerned the greasers are ready enough to bear their part, but it requires something besides fighting to carry on a war. It requires money, and the Mexicans have none to spare.

The coolness and patience of the Macon police force deserve the highest praise.

Maccon's Population.

THE NEW DIRECTORY SHOWS A GRATIFYING INCREASE IN ITS NUMBER.

MACON, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—The Constitution's correspondent has been favored with a glance at the advance sheets of the new directory for Maccon. Mr. Ed. A. Richards is the author and he has done his work well. The census taken by his agents is an accurate one, and shows a very slight increase taken by the federal government.

The last census taken by the federal government of Maccon a little over twelve thousand population. If these figures were correct, the population of the city has been more than doubled in five years. When great prosperity in the building of residences and stores during the past year is taken into account, this is by far the most rapid increase in the history of the city. The census taken by the agents of the constitution has removed the disabilities of perhaps fifty men with a view to enabling them to take office if it was tendered them under the democratic administration. It is an unjust and oppressive distinction, but it appears to be legally correct, and the president has doubtless been so advised otherwise. I cannot understand his withdrawal of a name that he was anxious to have confirmed."

The following figures as the population will be:

White—Persons 15 years of age and over, whose names appear in the directory: Males, 3,825; females, 1,900. Married men, 2,000; single men, 1,500; single women, 1,200; children, 2,250; total, 18,372.

Colored—Persons 15 years of age and over, whose names appear in the directory: Males, 2,000; single men, 1,500; married men, 2,300; children, 15 years of age, 2,600; total, 12,070. Grand total, 26,439.

Three More Arrested.

MACON, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—Officers Bailey and McCusky last night succeeded in arresting three more women who are suspected of being concerned in the robbery of J. H. Weller's saloon. They were arrested in their small houses and their names are Poly Gause alias Rivers, Lizzie Grannis, and Becky Clarke.

An Exasperated Landlord.

MR. WILEY JONES CLOSES A SALOON AND BREAKS UP A FARM BANK.

MACON, Ga., April 3.—[Special.]—An interesting episode at the National hotel has just leaked out. Mr. Wiley Jones, the landlord, rented the saloon privileges to J. D. Wilkerson. Yesterday, the rent was demanded, but Wilkerson was unable to pay it. Mr. Jones swore out a distress warrant before Justice M. R. Freeman, and had the bar fixtures and lights levied on, and closed up the saloon.

WHERE IS THE BABY?

MYSTERIC COUPLE AT A NEGRO HOTEL.

White Man and Woman Appear at Calhoun's Boarding House, With a Young Baby—The Baby Disappears, and the Police Hunt—They Begin an Investigation

In Wednesday afternoon a man and woman came at Moses Calhoun's colored boarding house, on Decatur street, and were assigned to No. 9, the neatest room in the house. The man and woman were both genteel-looking, wearing apparel indicating that they were in the man was, apparently, about forty-five years old, while his companion, who was presumed to be his wife, was not more than eighteen. The man was about five feet four inches in height and presumably weighed about one hundred and fifty-five pounds. He wore a dark suit and a hat. The lady was decidedly pretty, and was dressed in a neat traveling suit. They had two trunks, one a larger and the other a small one, but the most important part of their baggage was one month old. They were not out on Thursday. Late in the evening the man left the room and paid to the proprietor that he was going to leave the house, and that he was going out to get wagon to move his trunks. As he was on the point of leaving said to the porter:

"Will some one come here to see me while I am in, so you may know where I am, my uncle, and am looking for him."

Upon the man left, an old, worn-out, awkward-looking man appeared at the hotel. He was carrying a large basket in his arms. He asked the porter to show him to Mr. Monagan's room, No. 9. The porter replied telling the stranger that he did not know any Mr. Monagan, but he would show him to No. 9. The porter presumed that the caller was the uncle of his guest and while showing him to the room said:

"Are you that man's uncle?"
"No, I am not his uncle; I am his friend," was the reply.

The man was sent to No. 9, and entered. Not long after this the man returned and carried out the basket he came out. The basket was covered with a white cloth, and the old man appeared to be in a state of great excitement. He was seen walking down the street.

He had not been gone long

WHEN THE MAN CAME OUT.

The porter, whose curiosity had been aroused by the old man's visit, was watching them. He noticed at once that they did not have the baby and, wondering why it had been left behind, he went to the room to find the baby gone too. Instantly his mind reverted to the old man and the basket. He then thought that something was wrong and reported what he had seen and his suspicion to Murphy, Calhoun's manager, Murphy sent for Captain Abbott, who was on hand at the time, and the two men, the patrolman at once began investigating the matter. They found the couple's baggage at the door, but the basket was not to be found.

He then sought his superior officer, Captain Moon, and said the case before him. Captain Moon went to the office, but he could not find the man. It was then midnight, Thursday, and nothing more could be done.

WHAT WAS FOUND OUT.

Yesterday at noon, when Captain Moon went on duty, he began where he had left off the previous night. He called the police, and several patrols found that the bundle which had been brought from the Calhoun house had been taken to the National hotel. He then went to the hotel and began investigating the facts. He found the couple's baggage at the door, but the basket was not to be found.

THE BOY COULD SEE HER.

"Is that the lady who stopped at the Calhoun house?"

"Yes," answered the boy, after looking at her a moment. The captain then dismissed the boy and held a long conference with the man and woman.

They declined most positively to make known what had transpired in the room, and so the man with whom he conversed, and upon this brotherhood tie he bases his refusal to talk. However, he did not seem to be very anxious to be found, but that it has been placed in excellent hands.

MERIT
TESTED.

There is no article of Southern production the merits of which have been more rigidly tested than the Stevens Patent Watch. They are in the hands of railroad men, miners, millers, civil engineers, and others whose requirements are most exacting under the most unfavorable circumstances.

The Atlanta Watches give perfect satisfaction, and are now preferred over all others, where accuracy and reliability are desired.

PERSONAL.

Dr. WILLIS F. WESTMORELAND returned from Griffin yesterday.

MAJOR J. H. HANSON, of Macon, passed through the city yesterday enroute to Cincinnati.

CLAUDE O. BUTT and wife, of Florida, are visiting the family of Judge W. M. Butt, 227 Rawson street.

Mr. McDONALD, pastor of the Second Baptist church, is holding a series of meetings in the lecture room of the church. The services are very impressive and well attended. All are invited.

MR. CHARLES K. ROWLAND and his bride, nee Miss Lucy Winter, are at the Kimball house for a few days. They are now living at Rowland, Ala., where Mr. Rowland is engaged in coal mining.

The choir of the First Baptist church have prepared some beautiful music for next Sunday's services. This choir has no superior in any city in the south, and does Atlanta great credit. The Sabbath services at the First Baptist on this Sabbath will be unusually interesting.
